

NEWS

A Phoenix nonprofit taught residents how to handle the extreme heat — here's how it went

Headboard text needs text now

The Phoenix Revitalization Corporation created an "urban heat academy" with nearly 100 participants in two years.

Simple-Low-Budget Steps

USA

At an individual level, people can keep their homes cooler by taking simple, low-budget steps, like using foam tape to seal gaps around doors, or making larger renovations, like installing insulation.

Adopting individual

Equal opportunities

Cooling solution

Financial support on

9 INDUSTRY, INNOVATION
AND INFRASTRUCTURE11 SUSTAINABLE CITIES
AND COMMUNITIES