

At Columbia University, a panel coated with a novel polymer film radiates heat through the atmosphere to outer space, making it dramatically cooler than its surroundings. Panels like this one could reduce the need for air conditioning.
PHOTOGRAPH BY JYOTISMOY MANDAL

ENVIRONMENT | PLANET POSSIBLE

This new technology could help cool people down—without electricity

Multilayered Radiative Cooling Film

USA

Designed by Raman and Shanhui Fan.

Innovating radiative

Reflecting infrared

Passive cooling

Energy efficiency

Radiative cooling

9 INDUSTRY, INNOVATION
AND INFRASTRUCTURE

11 SUSTAINABLE CITIES
AND COMMUNITIES

13 CLIMATE
ACTION

