

Lake View Geothermal Project - Unit 17

The Lake View Geothermal project is a 120-megawatt geothermal project located in an unincorporated area of Sonoma County. The project was certified by the CEC on September 20, 1979 and began commercial operation on March 1, 1982.

PROJECT NUMBER

TS APC 04

CAPACITY

120 MW

LOCATION

Sonoma County

TECHNOLOGY

Steam Turbine

PROJECT STATUS

Operational (Geothermal)

PROJECT TYPE

Application for Certification

COMPLIANCE PROCEEDING

Submit a Comment TS APC 04 07

Submit a Blog Post

Submit a Comment TS APC 04 07

Submit a Blog Post

Project Details TS APC 04 07

Search all Project Documents TS

ORIGINAL PROCEEDING

A Commenting has been closed. Please submit your comments in compliance proceeding 000-0.

Submit a Comment TS APC 04 07

Submit a Blog Post

Project Details TS APC 04 07

Project Description

The Lake View Geothermal Project (Unit 17) is in Sonoma County near the Sonoma County line, in the Geysers Geothermal Resource Area along the ridge line of the Geysers Geothermal Mountains with moderate steep terrain, approximately 11 miles west of the town of Geysers, Unit 17, originally known as Pacific Bank.

Lakeview GeoThermal Cooling System System

United States

A GeoThermal Cooling System solution that uses water from an underground aquifer to cool various buildings in the city of Oak Ridge, Tennessee, United States.

GeoThermal Cooling S

Building Cooling

7 AFFORDABLE AND CLEAN ENERGY

11 SUSTAINABLE CITIES AND COMMUNITIES

